

Why? Financial companies choose how they share your personal information. Federal law gives consumers the right to limit some but not all sharing. Federal law also requires us to tell you how we collect, share, and protect your personal information. Please read this notice carefully to understand what we do.

What? The types of personal information we collect and share depend on the product or service you have with us. This information can include:

- Social Security number and income
- Account balances and transaction history
- Credit history and investment experience

How? All financial companies need to share customers' personal information to run their everyday business. In the section below, we list the reasons financial companies can share their customers' personal information; the reasons Northwest chooses to share; and whether you can limit this sharing.

To limit our sharing

- Call 1-877-672-5678 (Option 4) or visit a Financial Center.

Please note:

If you are a new customer, we can begin sharing your information 30 days from the date we sent this notice. When you are no longer our customer, we continue to share your information as described in this notice.

However, you can contact us at any time to limit our sharing.

Financial institutions, like Northwest, are required by law to deliver an annual privacy notice to you. If you have elected to opt out of information sharing in the past, your request is still being honored. You do not need to notify us again.

Who we are

Who is providing this notice?

This notice is provided by Northwest Bank and Northwest Investment Services. These financial institutions offer banking, investment, private wealth, insurance, and related services.

What we do

How does Northwest protect my personal information?

To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards and secured files and buildings. Northwest only allows its employees, authorized service providers and other parties as required or permitted by law to access your information.

How does Northwest collect my personal information?

We collect your personal information, for example, when you

- open an account or apply for a loan
- pay your bills or make deposits or withdrawals from your account
- seek advice about your investments

We also collect your personal information from others, such as credit bureaus, affiliates, or other companies.

Why can't I limit all sharing?

Federal law gives you the right to limit only

- sharing for affiliates' everyday business purposes – information about your creditworthiness
- affiliates from using your information to market to you
- sharing for nonaffiliates to market to you

State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing. See below for more on your rights under state law.

What happens when I limit sharing for an account I hold jointly with someone else?

Your choices will apply to everyone on your account - unless you tell us otherwise.
